Keep Politics Out Of Education

There is no room in education for politics. For that reason, we regret that a situation has developed at Mansfield State Teachers College which calls for an investigation into the resignation of James C. Morgan as president.

Both houses of the Legislature have approved a resolution authorizing a Justice Department inquiry into the "questionable circumstances" surrounding the resignation.

A majority of the college's board of directors voted to accept the resignation, effective July 15, and Dr. Lewis W. Rathgeber was named to replace Morgan.

The legislative proposal also calls on Gov. George M. Leader to hold up confirmation of Rathgeber's appointment until the case is studied.

Friends of Morgan declared he has done a fine job and that Mansfield STC has risen to new heights in the training of teachers since Morgan became president 14

If this be true, why was he asked to resign? Was it because the Democratic Party in Tioga County considered it more expedient to hand out a political plum than to continue in office an educator whose administration has proved successful?

Dr. Rathgeber may also be an able administrator. He has been director of the Bureau of Private Schools and Veterans Education in the Department of Public Instruction since the early months of the Leader administration.

But the fact remains he has been active

It is naive to think that politics can be completely divorced from such appointments. But we feel it is much better for all concerned if capable administrators, regardless of their political leanings, are left in office until they retire or resign of their

Each successor should then be appointed on the basis of his record as an educator and adminsitrator rather than as a reward for his political activities.

Such a procedure, we believe, was followed in the selection of Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler as president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, following the retirement of Dr. Joseph Noonan. The Democratic organization headed by Van D. Yetter is to be praised for putting abiliy and accomplishment ahead of political patronage in making this choice.

What has happened at Mansfield is different. If college presidents are forced to play politics to hold their positions, the whole educational system in Pennsylvania can be affected adversely. We'd much rather see Democrats appointed by Republicans, and vice versa, than witness a deterioration in our college program.

BANK FOR THE FAMILY that's the STROUDSBURG SECURITY TRUST COMPANY

It's true that many Stroudsburg firms listed in Dun & Bradstreet carry accounts with the Stroudsburg Security Trust Company. But the hard core of the bank is the family: the joint checking account or the individual checking account of the man or his wife; the savings account of perhaps EVERY MEMBER of the family; the mortgage to buy or build that home on Pleasant Street; the loan for the family car or to ease the family medical bills.

Nothing gives us more pleasure than seeing a family grow up and prosper and to feel that we have helped.

So make the Stroudsburg Security Trust Company your family bank. You can depend on the Stroudsburg Security Trust Company.

I suppose, in time, the size of the news room will shrink, but right now it has all the aspects of Grand Central station. That, of course, is in contrast with the so close that half the time we'd be talking in each other's telephones. Now I need a megaphone to relay a message to the

In time, too, we'll probably be able to concentrate on our work, but right now the peace and quiet is most distracting. Like the View from the window. We could be oblivious to the traffic on Seventh and Main Streets, including snake dances, parade and fire engines, and now somehow find ourselves mesmerized by the sight of roses blooming in the garden across the street, the quiet sound of a hose watering the newly-laid concrete sidewalk or the apples hanging green from our very own apple tree, to drive the car so that it doesn't of its own volition follow the familiar track through the tormenting tangle of traffic between Fifth and Seventh St. on a busy Friday night

Habit is a powerful thing and a great help in carrying us through our chores without too much conscious direction, but when you have to change your habits it's as difficult as learning to write left-handed.

Judy Smith Is Bride Of U.S. Airman

The East Stroudsburg Methodist Parsonage was the scene of an early June wedding when Miss Judy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, East Stroudsburg, became the bride of A-3c Charles Kresge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kresge, East Strouds-

They were married on June 1 at 3 p.m. by Rev. Harold C. Eaton. Miss Marlyn Snyder of 192 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg, was maid of honor and A-3c Luther Freeman, who is stationed with Airman Kresge at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Columbus, Ohio, was best man.

The bride wore a dress of yellow cotton rayon with a corsage of pink roses. Her maid of honor wore a pink summer dress and ception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith, 188 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg for about 75 guests. The bride attended East Stroudsburg High School and the bridegroom attended Coolbaugh High School. For the present the Mrs. Addie Mutchler, Thomas- bride will live with her grand-Stroudsburg, is celebrating parents, planning to join her husband later stationed with the air force.

Springmaid sheets at 1.67 . . . Temple Bells coverlets at a mere 14.99 and pillows of down, dacron, or feathers, are just about the most appealing items (from my point of view) being advertised at present in our Wyckoff June Jumbo Sale. They are dreamy items, reminding me of a place I used to go now and then, a long, long time win Mfg. Corp., Stroudsburg, for ago, before I was transformed from a young chick into an old night the employes was held at Willow owl.

Dell House, Minisink Hills, on Not that I'd willingly miss any of the fun I've been having in my round-and-round gadabouting . . , it's wonderful. Not for a minute would I have stayed away from the Miss Pocono Mountains Pageant the other evening just for the sake of forty winks or so. It was thrilling. And when Ed Sweet of Shawnee Inn drove up to my front door to take him down to Fred Waring's beautiful hotel for dinner, he was pretty pleased about it too. "They're the cutest looking bunch of kids you'll find anywhere," he enthused. "It makes you proud to be a Monroe Countian and know that one of them will represent this area." I knew exactly what he meant, as I saw them there, gathered around the dinner table in their fluffy evening dresses that might have been produced by a Fairy Godmother waving a magic wand. . . . Looking them over, I gloried in the exquisite wonder of being young, and didn't really mind that my own hair was generously enough sprinkled with gray I could be listed as a "chaperone"

> The judges, I am sure, felt the same way. So did Peg (Mrs. Clifford Heller) at my right, and Ira (Mrs. Bob) Miller, seated opposite Shawnee Inn's very pleasant manager at the head of the table. There were 22 of us . . . 15 paying silent tribute to the loveliness of seven youngsters still pretty much on the threshold of a big, wide, wonderful world, complete with thrills galore and probably heartaches aplenty. It must have been the mood I was in, but I felt like watering my applause with tears.

> I knew just what Ike Miller meant when she said, "It always just breaks my heart that they can't all win." How WOULD one choose between quietly charming Charlotte Herman, with her smile as bright as the marquis shaped diamond on her engagement finger, and her hope chest crammed with china from Japan, Oriental rugs, and Irish linens, accumulated on a recent world tour; sloe-eyed, well-stacked Marilyn Pettinato, with her white evening gown and tiny diadem; Stancy Ace, in my case "the girl next door", with rhinestones twinkling in the bodice of her pink ballet-length dress; Jeanne Poortstra, in two shades of blue taffeta that swept the floor as it cascaded over hoops which she managed with remarkable poise; Gail McDowell, with a friendly smile, graceful hands and arms; Jean Smith, with wide eyes and a flair for originality that permitted her to turn a routine talk on swimming into a thoughtful, often amusing little drama; and Jeanette Miller with her cute, curly short hairdo, and the amazing candor which admitted she'd entered the contest because she thought it might be interesting to display her beauty and talent.

Am I glad I wasn't judge. This I know, their job was a rough but I'm thoroughly happy they decided as they did, with Jeanne being crowned-an honor that had evaded her the previous year. She has a flawless ivory skin, this Miss Pocono Mountains . bright, piquantly shaped brown eyes . . . long golden hair that falls softly to her shoulders . . . a small, frequently smiling mouth pretty teeth . . . and delightful hands with slender, tapered fingers ouched with a frosty, natural nailpolish. I'm glad too that Stancy was adjudged by the other girls to be Miss Congeniality. It is a major accomplishment to be a pretty girl liked by other pretty girls.

Nor would I have missed the privilege of seeing Jeanne perform her first official duty Wednesday night when she crowned the 1957 Laurel Queen, selected from among 13 lovely brides at Split Rock Lodge. I'd heard about the wonders of this fabulous, rustic resort, set in its heavily wooded acreage, scattered so lavishly with sizeable estates and adorable bungalows. But the food! Steak as tender as a baby, as rare as a day in June . . . the AIR, breezing in gently over Lake Harmony, with just a wee hit of refreshing chill after the sweltering heat of town . . . the friendly hospitality of Manager Charles Rhoads, his wife, Assistant Manager Ted Berger, his Jean, and their daughter Janice. Lippy Breidbart explained why Hurricane Jackson will train at Harry's Farm, near Columbia, N.J. His quote was in reference to the boxing writers in New York City who blasted the challenger to Floyd Patterson's heavyweight throne for taking up drills at this outof-the-way location.

Briedbart said, "While I regret that it will be tough for the boxing writers to get to Harry's spot, by the same token it will be next

"He (Jackson) has everything he needs there. He's got a boat. juke boxes, ping pong tables and other means of recreation for his hours after training. He doesn't read books and he doesn't play cards. And this way I'll know where he is all the time. He has the wanrerlust, you know.'

Emil Lence, the promoter who fought the transfer of Jackson to the Stroudsburg suburban territory, also announced that the writers will be flown in to Harry's by helicopter.
